Chapter 1 by Jhagadeswara rao Rajavarapu

Cold was an understatement. You could have gone outside and died within 5 minutes. No amount of protection would help you. It only lasted a month, but there were only 10 billion people left. That was half our population, dead.

Then came the worldwide storms. This killed so many people that there were only 1 million left.

Then there was the war, and now the last 5000, people have to fight the N.I, (Neuron Invader.) The infected thirst for blood. Oh yeah, I forgot to introduce myself, I'm Jay, and I'm one of the only 5 who has immunity.

It has been years since this occurred, but people deserve to know. Well I, Jack was the best of the rest. What? That was Jack. Just ignore him. There was also Nick, Ryan, and Josh. Anyway, this is the story of how we overcame the disease, and FINALLY live peacefully.

You know until the ljsdrgluxtr. That bomb shook my hand. You know I'm writing this in pen right? I was going to say until we had to fight with the cyborgs that were accidentally made by Professor Your friend. Well this is the story of how we overcame the disease and cyborgs.

Enjoy!
